

DRAGONBALL SUPER CARD GAME

Booster Draft Rules (For Draft Box 05)

I. About Draft Games

A draft is a game format in which players open sealed boosters and compete with each other using decks built only from those cards.

II. Recommended Number of Players and Boosters

This box contains enough booster packs for 4 players.
Each player takes 6 booster packs.(Draft Booster pack)

III. Deck Construction

Players build decks consisting of a Leader Card and 50 non-Leader Cards.
In draft play, a deck may include more than four copies of a single card.
Any cards not included in the deck can be used as sideboard cards.

IV. Recommended Game Rules

After finishing the draft, players play best-of-three matches against each other.
Before starting the second and third games of a match, players can exchange any cards in their deck with cards in their sideboard (including their Leader Card). As long as the final deck composition is valid, there is no restriction on how many cards a player can exchange between their sideboards and their decks.

*You can also enjoy best-of-one games if your group prefers

V. Draft Rules

1. Each player takes their specified boosters for the draft, and takes a randomly assigned seat at the drafting table.
2. All players open their boosters and count the number of cards without looking at the card faces. If a booster contains more or less cards than it should, immediately call a judge.
3. Each player takes a card of their choosing from the booster they opened, and passes the remaining cards face-down to the player to their left.
4. Repeat step 3. until all cards have been drafted.
5. Return to step 2 by opening a new booster, and repeat the steps in order until all cards from all boosters have been drafted. However, for the second, fourth, and sixth boosters, players pass the remaining cards to their right instead of their left.
6. After the draft, players use the cards they've drafted to construct a 50-card deck, consisting of 50 non-Leader Cards and a Leader Card.
Note: All players must use the Leader Cards included with this product.
7. Players can now play matches with the other players using the deck they just constructed (a round-robin tournament format is recommended).

*Players who were unable to draft a Leader Card during the draft must use a Leader Card obtained from outside the draft.

We recommend randomly selecting a Leader Card from the sets used for the draft.

VI. Card Distribution & Prizes

Before drafting, decide how to distribute the cards from the boosters after finishing the tournament.

For the Dragon Ball Super Card Game, we recommend the following methods.

A: Keep What You Take

Players keep whatever cards they picked during the draft.

B: Rare Draft (Winner-Picks-First)

After the tournament is over, collect all cards of rarities Rare or higher and reveal them to all players. Distribute those cards in order of tournament placing: the player who placed first takes a card, then the player who placed second, then the player who placed third, and so on before starting again from the first-place player. Players can keep whatever common and uncommon cards they picked during the draft.

VII. Precautions

- Players can check the cards they drafted at any time as long as they do not have any other cards in their hand.
- When a card is removed from a booster by a player and placed face-down in their pile of drafted cards, that card is considered taken by that player and cannot be returned to the booster.
- The players must be careful not to show other players any cards they have taken during the draft or any cards in the booster they are currently choosing their next card from.
- Players cannot in any way signal information to other players about which cards they have taken or which cards they want other players to take.

©BIRD STUDIO/SHUEISHA, TOEI ANIMATION

BANDAI MADE IN JAPAN